

$269,850 Venice Bridge Budget

Remodeling Delayed By Jurisdictional Dispute,
Deadline Is Extended

Extensions of time have been granted for completion of remodeling of the city-owned McKinley Bridge, Mayor John E. Lee reported at Venice city council meeting Friday night. The report followed adoption of a $269,850 bridge budget for the 1960-61 fiscal year beginning Oct. 1.

Pouring of concrete traffic surfaces has been delayed by a jurisdictional dispute between Illinois and Missouri unions, the mayor said, adding that there is hope of a settlement by early this week.

The dispute is between laborer and cement finisher unions over which should supply the men for operating finishing equipment after concrete is poured, Mayor Lee told the council. Engineers and contractors thought the issue had been settled before the project was started, but the disagreement developed again, he related.

Work on the main part of the bridge is being carried out by the Whiting-Turner Co. of Baltimore, Md., and the General Contracting Co. is building toll stations and remodeling approaches. The work originally was slated for completion by this month, but contracts were awarded later than planned.

The new bridge budget, over $150,000, includes $185,350 for general and administrative costs; $300,000 for operating expenses; $14,500 for maintenance; $70,000 for painting; and $80,000 for taxes.

A breakdown follows: general office salaries, $20,000; consulting engineer, $5,000; highway consultant, $2,000; $2,000; audit, $1,000; advertising, $2,000; fiscal, sub-fiscal and paymaster, $6,500; insurance, $65,500; Missouri state taxes, $67,000; social security, $80,700; bridge office rental, $2,100; and miscellaneous, $1,585.

Operating expenses—chief toll collector, $4,740; 10 toll collectors, $44,160; fuel, lubricants and water, $5,500; telephone and telegraph, $715; supplies and printing, $7,000; clearing of roads, $3,000; and extra help, $2,100.

Maintenance man, $5,840; second maintenance man, $3,792; bridge and buildings, $4,400; and equipment, $800. Painting, $5,500.

The $269,850 and $268,000 budget totals for the third and second years compare with $196,000 for the first year, 1958-59, when the bridge was operated for 10 months and 10 days after being acquired Nov. 21, 1958. The city treasury netted $33,588 from the first year's operation. From the second year's receipts have not been determined.

Fund Transfers
The council on Friday night transferred $76 from the chief collector's budget account to the collection staff account. Funds other than those designated for the fiscal, sub-fiscal and paymaster, insurance, audit and painting are to be transferred as of Sept. 30 to the Missouri tax account.

Illinois Terminal Railroad, which is performing some of the remodeling work, was paid $2714 for labor on the center roadway.

Other bridge bills paid were $43,204 to General Contracting. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4.)

Loot Tops $1000 At TV Store; 11 Other Thefts Here

Portable TV sets, radios and record players, valued at over $1000, were stolen in a burglary at Frank Townsend's TV Shop, 2712 Nameokt road, it was discovered Friday morning.

Entrance was gained by prying open a window on the north side of the building.

Listed as missing were five portable television sets with gray, charcoal, blue and yellow cabinets; two stereophonic record players with red and white and blue and white cabinets; a black and white hi-fi set, four radios and a transistor radio with a black plastic case.

Safe-Breaking Attempt
Safe-crackers failed at the Bell-Air Drive-In theatre, Highway 66 and 111 near Mitchell, according to a report made Thursday to county authorities.

The attempt was discovered by the custodian, Charles Buehner, and it was reported the would-be thieves gained entrance to the office building by forcing the lock on a rear door. The safe was badly damaged and the handle and combination were knocked off.

Trials Pleads Guilty
Three St. Louis women were indicted at the Granite City police station at 2:35 p.m. Saturday on petty larceny charges based on theft of 15 sweaters valued at a total of $40.

The theft from the J. J. Newberry store, 19th and State streets, was reported at 4:30 p.m. Thursday by the assistant manager, Lloyd Williams.

After allegedly visiting the local store, the three, all Negroes, were arrested in Alton. Local police obtained custody of them from Alton police.

Appearing before Police Magistrate Gasparovic this morning, the three pleaded guilty to the disposition of the case was taken under advisement until Oct. 3.

They were freed on $1000 property bonds furnished by a professional bondsman.

They identified themselves as Barbara Jean Adams, 19, of 1903 Carr street; Helen Marlene Kent, 32, of 3022 Horton place; and Elizabeth Kell, 28, of 1248 Ages court.

The sweaters were found in the car driven by the three when they were taken into custody at Alton, authorities have said.

3 Special Ballots In Nov. 8 Election

2 State Bond Issues,
Health Proposal; 20
Offices To Be Filled

Quad-City voters will face many choices when they go to the polls for the general election on Tuesday, Nov. 8, a review of fall voting showed today. Also taking place between Oct. 13 and Jan. 11 will be an election on the managerial form of government in Granite City.

In addition to choosing among 49 candidates for 20 offices on the general election ballot, local residents will mark three special ballots Nov. 8 — a $195,000,000 state bond issue on construction of university buildings, a $150,000 state bond issue on building of well-institution facilities, and authority to levy a five-cent tax rate per $100 assessed valuation to finance a Madison county health department.

The university proposal is of particular interest in this area because passage would provide $25,000,000 for establishment of a four-year state university on a site in the bluff area between the Quad-Cities and Edwardsville.

The $195,000,000 referendum also includes $30,000,000 for a university hospital in Alton.

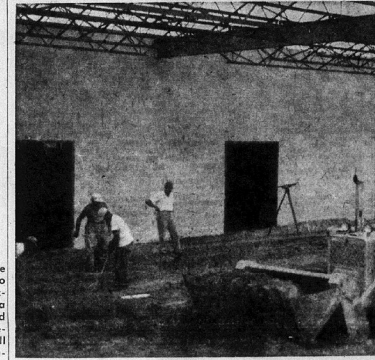

Improvements proposed for welfare institutions under the $150,000,000 bonding program include additional buildings at the state mental hospital in Alton.

Balloting on whether the county should establish a health department will take place as a result of a successful drive to obtain petition signatures from over 100 per cent of the county's voters.

Candidates listed on the ballot will include 19 Democrats, 19 Republicans and 11 candidates of the Socialist Labor party.

LOADING AREA for the new Royal Crown Cola Co. plant adjacent to Route 67a is shown being graded. An outer wall of the new structure is shown in the background, and the metal framework attached to it will form a roof overhang. Flavor ingredients for soft drinks will be manufactured and placed in cans when the new industry is opened.

Fall Completion Date For RC Cola Co. Plant Here

A fall completion date has been set for the Royal Crown Cola Co. canning plant and flavor ingredient manufacturing center being built on Route 67a south of the A. O. Smith Corp. Tom Studebaker, general contractor for the project, reports that most of the exterior construction work has been completed, and work on the interior will be emphasized during the remainder of September and throughout October.

The industry for opening the new plant has not yet been set. As soon as the contractor's work is finished, possibly in early November, the soft drink firm will supervise the task of installing equipment in the building.

W. T. Miller, RC Cola vice-president in charge of production, has visited the plant site and is in general charge of establishing the new production center. His most recent conference with Studebaker took place over several weeks ago.

Joseph F. Hale, manager of the firm's technical services department, supervising the development of plans for the building and is arranging for the installation of manufacturing equipment.

Starting Gun Sounds On UF Employee's Unit Campaign

This was "D" Day for the voters in the field. Drive Chairman James L. Hamilton Jr., at the afternoon get-together of the industrial employee solicitors, emphasized that their efforts will mean the difference between the success or failure of the campaign. He asserted:

Greatest Potential
"In this division lies the greatest potential for increasing growth through the 30-minute clubs now operating and being formed among employee groups."

Hamilton paid tribute to the results achieved in the previous drive by Gilbert M. Sykes and Robert Gengler and their co-workers, when almost 55% more was raised than the year before.

He indicated that this performance could be repeated with further acceptance of continuous giving by plant employees.

"It's your job to sell the idea, so that everyone can give his fair share in support of our health and welfare services," Hamilton stressed.

The employee's division which solicits subscriptions from about 14,000 manufacturing and other industrial employees, is headed by Sykes, an electrical engineer with Granite City Steel Co., and former president and now treasurer of the United Fund board of directors, and Gengler, an engineer with A. O. Smith Corp.

Sykes and Gengler are serving their second year as co-chairmen of this division, formerly termed the Labor Division.

Teams Organized
Harmon Feigenbaum, with A. O. Smith Corp., is chairman for manufacturing employees, with 16 two-man teams to cover about 90 firms.

Seen In Auto
The sheriff's office is seeking two young men who were reported seen with a man who looked like Mr. Portell in a coral 1954 Pontiac convertible, with unknown Illinois license plates, at the intersection of Bypass 66 and Route 111, near Mitchell between 8 and 8:30 a.m. Monday Aug. 22. It had been believed that he was killed the previous night.

One of the two suspects was described as between 20 and 30 years old, weighing between 150 and 170 pounds, dark hair, and standing approximately five feet, nine inches. He was further described as "well-built and heavy through the shoulders."

Also sought is a wrist watch known to have been worn by the victim. It was not on the body when taken from the river. Inserted on the back of the case was "V. B. Portell, American Steel Foundries, 1948."

Not revealed by authorities was the identity of the individual who reported seeing Mr. Portell with the suspects. Thos. McGee, Lynch, was described as "a reputable citizen, who knew Mr. Portell and saw him in the car with the two men at the intersection."

Solons Expected To Set Special
Vote Date Tonight

Granite City council members are expected to set an election date for the special city manager election at tonight's meeting.

An order directing the council to set the date was issued last Tuesday in Edwardsville by County Judge Michael Kinney, and the council is to decide upon a date not less than 60 days nor more than 120 days from the issuance of the order.

Alderman Walter Nunn said at the last council session that a quick election should be called, indicating the solons might choose a minimum time. The earliest date would be mid-October, or the vote could be delayed until next January.

Legal Opinion Sought
Members of the Citizens for Council Manager Government group are seeking through the state's attorney's office a ruling from the attorney general's office to determine if the special city manager vote could be called on Nov. 8, the date of the general election.

If that date is selected, they point out, the city could save the cost of renting polling places and hiring election judges.

With the issuance of the order by Kinney, J. W. Kinney, is certified the validity of petitions signed by 1500 Granite City residents requesting a vote to determine if a change is desired. The Citizens for Council Manager Government stepped up their membership campaign.

Campaign Funds Sought
The group, headed by Clarence Henry and organized by James "Red" Worthington, is distributing membership forms and seeking campaign contributions.

Dues amount to $1 per person, and the group is urging campaign contributions to be sent to headquarters of Citizens for Council Manager Government, 1840 Delmar avenue.

On the membership form, it is explained the group seeks to promote an improvement of local government through the council-manager plan.

Colorful Ceremony

Lavishly ornated by rich clerical vestments and trappings, spiritually ennobled by the services of a pontifical high mass and in costume dancing and singing, the Eastern Orthodox Church of the Nativity of Virgin Mary of Madison celebrated its 60th anniversary Sunday.

The centuries-enriched liturgical service of the mass was celebrated in the Old Church Slavonic at the house of worship at 416 Ewing avenue.

Following this morning rite, priests, parishioners and guests, 450 strong, converged at the American Legion hall, Venice, where the multi-colored dress of Eastern European countries sang church and secular songs, and prayers were native dancing. The festival atmosphere was accentuated by talks and felicitations of speakers and there was a multi-tiered birthday cake.

Telegram From Eisenhower
An American Legion Russian congregation reached its 60th milestone, there was a congratulatory wire from President Eisenhower, who said in part: "Over the years, your church has provided a center for the faith and charity of its people. Strengthened by a tradition of Christian service, the parishioners can face the future with confidence."

A distinguished Eastern Orthodox prelate, Archbishop Dimitry of the diocese of Philadelphia, eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey, was the guest of honor at the banquet. In Russian, addressed the parishioners.

Other Participants
Among others of the orthodox and Anglican faiths who participated in and added significance and memory-retaining substance to the 60th anniversary, were: The Rev. Vitaly Voshchilo, pastor of Nativity of St. Mary Church; the Rev. Kiril Antoneff, of the Bulgarian Orthodox Church, Madison; the Rev. John Terichow, of the Russian Orthodox Church and head of the St. Louis deanery.

The Rev. Proto-Deacon Stefan George Lazich, St. Louis and the Rev. David E. Nyberg, Madison City. The latter is rector of St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church.

PTA Dispute Continues, Madison Meet Tonight

A disagreement between Mrs. Edward Byrne and Madison school officials was sharply defined during the weekend as she criticized Supt. Wensel Brown and the school board during a 15-minute telecast Friday night, and Brown said the district will not cooperate in her efforts to maintain a district-wide Parent-Teacher Association.

The superintendent told the Press-Record that the school system will not oppose formation of individual PTA units, but that other parent groups at Madison schools, as long as they represent only one building, are not part of the district-wide organization. The superintendent said the district also will recognize a representative committee composed of representatives of all such individual PTA units, he added.

Interviewed over a St. Louis TV station, Mrs. Byrne expressed determination to continue her efforts on behalf of an organization of parents of all Madison schools. She said 2000 circulars publicizing a meeting of her group, at 7:30 tonight at the Madison Junior high school, would be distributed by children.

The handbill reads, "Because Mr. Brown gave orders to all schools not to accept our PTA notices, we are forced to send out handbills to you. We are going to have a PTA meeting no matter what Mr. Brown wants. Please plan to attend. We are counting on you. Remember, there is no greater gift than the gift of God, and the most precious of these gifts are our children, and their welfare only."

George T. Wilkins, state superintendent, late last week certified $154,794,899 for payment of state aid claims for the year ended June 30. He said major causes for the 58.6% statewide increase are the greater school population and a change in the formula for state aid.

Madison county received $3,648,032 in 1958-59, against $5,520,634 in 1959-60.

MORE ABOUT Eastern Orthodox

the board of the celebrating church and he and numerous associates were instrumental in planning and successfully carrying out the task of the 60-year fete.

Something of the history of the parish since its beginnings in 1900 and sketches of high placed members of the Eastern Orthodox hierarchy are told in the illustrated anniversary brochure prepared for the occasion.

In a tour to the dining, the Rev. Mr. Voshchulko said that, in the main, when an individual reaches 60, he thinks about retirement time.

New Church Planned

"Retirement is in no wise on the charts for the Nativity of St. Mary," he emphasized. In fact, said the priest who has served the Madison parish for the past three years, the Russian orthodox congregation "plans to construct a new church" which will be realized within two or three years, he declared.

The Rev. Mr. Voshchulko is the youngest priest in the St. Louis area, serving the oldest orthodox church in the Illinois-Missouri sector.

He was accorded an ecclesiastical honor by Archbishop Dimitry prior to the mass. This award of clerical merit permits the Madison priest to wear additional insignia on his vestments.

Banquet speakers urged recognition of that which was good and enduring in the old world cultures and backgrounds of the Eastern Orthodox parishioners. They said that as Americans, they should be proud of their heritage and continue to contribute much to the national scene, and that their denomination had one of the richest and longest-lived among Christian faiths.

Originating in the East, one speaker asserted it may be considered as closest to the well-springs of Christianity.

Joining in the celebration were clerical and lay representatives of Eastern Orthodox churches of Bulgaria, Romania, and of Serbian, Bulgarian, and other Balkan-area nationals and Turkish Americans.

Saturday Events

Saturday evening, the archbishop officiated at a 7 o'clock vigil service at the Madison church and following was a tea in his honor. The high churchman ordained the Rev. Mr. Voshchulko into the orthodox priesthood several years ago.

The were cheerleaders from the Quad-Cities and St. Louis assisting in the celebration of the mass. Eastern Orthodox church members and vestments are noted for their ornateness and elaborateness, and the clerical garments of the participating priests made an altogether colorful panorama.

A striking figure, the archbishop is distinguished by long, wavy, graying hair worn loose

JPs Observe Human Nature At Close Range

If you want to observe human nature at close range, there are few better ways than from across the gavel of a justice of the peace.

Two of Granite City's five JPs, both with 10 or more years' experience—Milton G. Reinhardt and Mrs. Elvira M. Thurber—have come through the "orderly" with a positive picture of it all, neatly summed up by Reinhardt: "Most people deserve a break, and if you give them one they're grateful. A few sour apples exist who make you keep your guard up, but mostly people are good and decent. The main thing to watch is that you don't become cynical, especially in a job like this."

Although resolving civil cases is by far the main function of JPs, to keep John Doe's mounting unpaid grocery bills from cluttering up city and other courts, the only woman JP in Madison county related that person's troubles also takes up a sizable amount of her time.

"I've married them in bridal attire and I've married them in street clothes, and almost always it's been at my home rather than in court," Mrs. Thurber said. Most popular months have been June and December.

Makeup Platform Donated
During her 13 years in office, some 700 couples have wandered down the aisle, and Mrs. Thurber said she recalled the bridegroom's friends even "rained" a makeup platform and archway for the ceremony.

The reason? "I could look down on them just a little," Mrs. Thurber said. She is a diminutive 4'11".

Regarding the opinion of the JPs, Mrs. Thurber said that JP courts are too often "kangaroo courts" practicing "double standards." She commented that such unscrupulous characters are in the minority, and are as disliked by fellow members of the profession as by their victims.

His advice for the man on the street regarding legal matters: "Avoid custodial lawyers—people who are ready to give their opinion on anything, whether it concerns politics, religion, sports or legal matters—because in many cases it's the opinion that they're not in a position to give."

Two Many Opinion Givers
By taking the word of such opinion-givers, Reinhardt said, many people go ahead with things believing they're legally in the "right," and sometimes get into a lot of trouble.

"Usually if they see an attorney in the first place," he said, "they could avoid this sort of thing. Most attorneys give a 'good deal' and charge a fee proportionate to their work."

The line between the "orderly" handled by the police magistrates and justices of the peace, though sometimes thin, nonetheless is usually well-defined in Madison county, they said. Basically, the police magistrate handles police cases and the JPs handle civil cases—though either could handle the other's function in a pinch, which sometimes happens.

The two types of people Reinhardt—in his 10-year tenure he has handled some 10,000 cases— invariably encounters are unwilling but unable to meet their obligations, and those unwilling but able to meet them.

But worst of all is the type who calls up at 11 p.m. and says, "I want this guy arrested right now."

Most common case Mrs. Thurber handles, she says, is the small business which can get nowhere with its creditors.

Both JPs interviewed felt that honesty, common sense and aptitude are the three prerequisites for their type of work. Although they sometimes regret with JP "headaches" involved, neither regrets the choice of livelihood.

Neither thinks much of the new state law that will limit the number of JPs in a district to one, or possibly two, per township with the April election.

Under the present system, 17 JPs are permitted, five in each of the three precincts and one in each of the four townships throughout the state. Elected, they serve four-year terms, and operate on a fee basis.

The new plan will operate on a salary basis. And the possibility arose that the JP who will serve the townships of Granite City, Venice, Nemo and part of Chouteau, they said.

"It's almost frightening to think of one JP trying to handle that much territory, and even if he can the salary is inadequate," Reinhardt, who doesn't plan to run, said.

A tentative yearly salary of $6,000, requested by the bar association, awaits approval by the county supervisors, Mrs. Thurber said.

Salary Inadequate
"I don't see how the salary could attract a really good attorney, because he could make more money somewhere else," Reinhardt said. "The only man you'll attract on a low salary are just a few guys who can't make more money than that anyway."

Mrs. Thurber feels that the population of districts should determine the number of JPs there, since "some handle only one-quarter as many cases during a year as others, and to pay them the same salary would be unfair."

Both, too, are in favor of JPs being elected to office, rather than getting there by way of appointment.

"Elections are bad," Reinhardt said, "but that a half-fitter can be elected by good people who don't vote. But at the same time, they're preferable because people should be allowed to make their choice."

Reinhardt said he would almost sure to feel obligated to Mrs. Thurber said.

JPs By Accident
Both drifted gradually into their office, they said. Mrs. Thurber began as a clerk for a former lady JP, and served in that capacity 10 years while she learned the ropes. Reinhardt began with an insurance background, and his first contact with JP courts was when he went there to fight collision cases, he said.

"After a while I figured I knew enough about the laws to make a good JP. But I quickly found that's the smallest part of all. Good common sense is much more important," he said.

Mrs. Thurber recalled the time she attached a race horse, one of those raced at the Fairmount track, to a wagon when the owner refused to pay the trainer some of his wages.

The constable went out to the track and informed the trainer the horse couldn't run that night, she said, and that did the trick.

That night, just before the owner came to her office and settled with the trainer.

"If I'd been a betting woman, I'd have bet on that horse, because he really paid off," Mrs. Thurber laughed.

Wanted: Site For Historical Museum

On a number of fronts, action was taken last week in a search for new quarters for the Madison county historical museum, which is now housed in the Edwardsville court house.

It will be obliged to vacate its present site.

Clifford Krug, Godfrey chairman of the Madison county court house committee, has asked the board of supervisors for authority to rent space outside the court house for the historical collections.

No formal action was taken on Krug's request.

He advised the supervisors of the need for a third circuit court building and that when approved, it would likely occupy space now utilized by the museum.

Earlier, transfer of Lauck Cemetery Park, Edwardsville, to the county and its use as the transfer site of the museum was proposed by County Auditor John L. Kravack.

The proposition has the approval of Edwardsville officials and county agencies and the auditor explained today that it is a splendid suggestion and will save a number of county problems.

Krugack has invited the county educational and historical committee and the court house committee to meet to discuss the acquisition. Likewise voting approval, Miss Jessie Springer, museum curator, declared "I feel it is a splendid suggestion and will approve of it."

Collide On West Street
Eight occupants escaped injury in a two-car collision in the 200 block of Madison avenue at 11:15 p.m. Friday. There was damage to the front of the auto of Miss Myrna Bischoff, 16, of 1101 West Pontoon road and the rear of the car of Donald Lambert, 16, of 1531 Lindell ave. Both vehicles were headed south on the wet pavement, and the crash occurred when traffic became congested.

The new meeting quarters for the supervisors will be in the basement of the court house, adjoined by a small room.

Yet another recommendation was advanced. That the museum collections be placed in glass show cases on the ground floor of the court house.

Depot Picked For Area-Wide Surplus Sales

The U. S. Army Granite City Engineer Depot was selected by the Department of Defense to establish a Consolidated Surplus Sales Office, Area 13.

The Consolidated Surplus Office became operational this month with the task of expediting the sale of government surplus property from the Department of Defense inventory. This office will perform sales service for all military installations in this area, which includes:

U. S. Army Engineer Depot, Granite City; Decatur Signal Depot, Decatur; Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.; U. S. Army Support Center, St. Louis; U. S. Army Ordnance District, St. Louis; U. S. Army Ordnance Plant, St. Louis, and Scott Air Force Base.

With the consolidation of the Surplus Sales Office, improved sales methods and techniques will be employed, such as: elimination of a large number of small individual sales; more effective lotting of merchandise; uniform reproduction of sales catalogs; inspection of property by the buyers and centralizing payments. It is believed that this new program will stimulate new buyer interest and increase sales participation.

Krugack has invited the county educational and historical committee and the court house committee to meet to discuss the acquisition. Likewise voting approval, Miss Jessie Springer, museum curator, declared "I feel it is a splendid suggestion and will approve of it."

Miss Martha Sue Parker And Thomas Eugene Miles Wed

Grace Baptist Church, 2500 Edwards street, was the scene Saturday evening of the wedding of Miss Martha Sue Parker, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Parker, 2618 Hodges avenue, and Thomas Eugene Miles, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Miles, 2520 Willow avenue.

Ethereal arrangements and tall pedestal baskets of white flowers decorated the church which was lighted with candles in branched candelabra. Hurricane lights down the center aisle afforded further illumination.

Rev. William Nesbitt performed the ceremony at 8 o'clock and a reception was held afterward at the church. A program of wedding music was furnished by Mrs. John Fedora, organist, and her daughter, Miss Joy Fedora, vocalist. The songs were "I Love You Truly" and "Wedding Prayer."

Mr. Parker escorted his daughter down the aisle and gave her in marriage. She wore a chalk white silk organza gown over taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a jeweled sash and line of hand-clipped. Chantilly lace and ivory shirred cap sleeves. The very bouffant skirt, which billowed from a basque waistline, was fashioned in a long tier effect, each tier heavily bordered with scalloped lace, as was the chapel train. A finger-tip veil of illusion was attached to a crown of white blossoms and the bride carried a cascade bouquet of white roses surrounding a white and purple orchid.

Three attendants, Mrs. Peggy Cunningham, the bride's sister, matron of honor, Mrs. Marilyn Parker, a sister-in-law, and Mrs. Audrey Pieper, bridesmaids, were dressed alike in ballerina-length gowns of pearl satin and chiffon. The molded bodices of softly shirred chiffon had deep scoop necklines and small cap sleeves and the bell shaped skirts of satin fell from wide mid-thighs in large boxes in the center back. Matching headpieces of single self roses with pearl centers attached to circular veils completed their costumes and they carried cascades of white gladioli.

A little flower girl, Andrea Kay Miles, the bridegroom's niece, was attired in a floor length dress of white nylon gandy trimmed with daisies. She carried a basket of rose petals. The bride's mother wore loose lace over taffeta with matching accessories, while Mrs. Miles, the bridegroom's mother, was in a dress of royal blue and a blue hat. Both wore pure white orchid corsages.

Charles Miles, was best man for his brother, and Harold Humphries, Clay Parker, the bride's brother, Robert Brunley and Douglas Cunningham, a brother-in-law of the bride, served as groomsmen and ushers.

Pioneers Score 2 Easy TD's, Blank Warriors 13-0

Wallace, Haug Injured In Opener; Weiss Tallies Twice For Assumption

Substitute Halfback Ed Weiss was the whole show here Friday night as Assumption's Pioneers struck quickly for two first-quarter touchdowns and made them stand for a 13-0 opening game victory over a slower Granite City high school football squad.

A sellout, standing-room-only crowd saw Weiss skirt his own right end in the first period for 19 yards and a score, and then grab a pass from Rich Stefanik a little later in the quarter to score the goal line gain in a play that began on the Assumption 26 yard line.

Weiss literally outran the Warrior defenders on both occasions, and Assumption beat Granite City to the punch the rest of the way, too. The game turned into a bruising defensive battle which saw two Warriors carried from the field on stretchers before the final gun. Both received treatment at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Quarterback Jerry Wallace will be lost to Granite City for an indefinite period after x-rays showed he had suffered several cracked ribs after being dived by a host of Pioneer tacklers as he faded to pass in the second half.

Fullback Charles Haug sustained a broken nose during rough contact in the second half, but his injury is not as serious as the one Wallace suffered.

Assumption coach George Martz unveiled an unexpected spread formation in the opening minutes, one which caught the Warriors unaware. He split his ends and flanked his halfbacks between them and the Pioneer tacklers. The touchdown pass play came off that formation.

The Pioneers' first score was set up when the slower big line broke through to block Brett Bjorkman's punt deep in Warrior territory on the six.

Assumption drew a 15-yard penalty two plays later, and the ball was placed down on the Granite City 19. Speedster Weiss took a handoff on the next play broke into the clear and scored standing up. The try for extra point was good.

With two minutes left in the first quarter, Stefanik, behind good pass protection from Weiss, cleared behind the Warrior defenders and hit him with a perfect aerial, the 19-pound junior again turned on the speed and outdistanced Warrior pursuers. Everett Thompson's kick from placement was good, and that was that.

Martz fell back on his old standby formation, the short punt, in the second half but Assumption seemed content to concentrate on defense.

About the only Warrior back generated much steam was John Grodzki, who accounted for most of the meager yardage the Warriors chalked up against the Pioneers.

Penelton, Edwardsville Humble Madison, 40-14

TWO WARRIOR TACKLERS, including Mel Barron (15), put the bite on Assumption ball carrier, Glen Bischoff, after the Pioneer quarterback had made short yardage around right end in Friday night's prep football opener here. Five Granite City players, including Don Pindell (34) and Ron Burto (22) follow the play, together with Assumption's Larry Rowe (48). The East St. Louis team went home with a 13-0 victory.

Tiger Fullback Scores Four Times; MHS Tallies On Long Runs By Griggs

If Edwardsville's 190-pound fullback and team captain, Tony Penelton, could pick his opponents for the remainder of the 1960 football season, high on the list would be Madison's Trojans. The Tiger senior scored four touchdowns and added an extra point as the Bengals trounced the Big Green 40-14 in the opener for both squads at Edwardsville Friday night.

Penelton's efforts — he played slightly less than three quarters of the game — almost, but not quite, overshadowed the offensive work of Madison Halfback Ken Griggs, who tallied both Trojan touchdowns.

Griggs went 90 yards with a kickoff return late in the first quarter, and in the final stanza streaked 91 yards for a score. On both occasions the 165-pound junior simply outran the opposition after bursting into the clear.

He picked up 238 yards in 17 carries, which included a 21-yard gain around right end. Penelton had 206 yards net in 18 tries, including touchdown dashes of 61, 25, five and one yard.

Penelton intercepted Madison Quarterback Mick Gravelle's first pass attempt, midway through the first period. He grabbed it out of the air on the Madison 37 and fought his way in to the 16. Two plays later he went into the end zone standing and then swept right end for the extra point, giving the Bengals a 7-0 lead.

Exactly four minutes later, after Eldon Frisse's 48-yard punt return for an apparent TD had been nullified by an illegal use of hands penalty, Penelton went around the right side from 25 yards out for another score.

Tiger Quarterback Ron Aubrecht, an unexpected bright spot in Coach Benny Iselhardt's gridiron repertoire, passed to Jim Schwartzkopf for the point after touchdown and Edwardsville led 14-0.

Griggs' first long gallop came on the following kickoff. Turner booted to the Madison 10, where the deep man, Carl Drayton, picked up the ball. He and Griggs crisscrossed, and Griggs got the ball and went straight down the field near the sidelines for 91 yards. He was stopped at the first quarter.

Griggs went around right end for the extra point and Madison was as close as it ever got.

Two plays later, the Tigers had another score. Again it was Penelton who carried the pigskin across. Turner returned Willie Boyd's short kickoff to the Edwardsville 38, and Penelton went off left tackle for 61 yards and a score on the first play from scrimmage. Nick Jim Maring, Penelton's replacement, plunged for the extra point and the Bengals led the field at halftime with a 21-7 advantage.

Only three minutes of the third period had elapsed when Mr. Penelton scored again. This time he started in from the Madison five after Frisse had returned Nick Pavlov's punt 41 yards to set it up. Aubrecht's pass for the extra point fell incomplete.

Penelton rested for the remainder of the third quarter and most of the fourth. Weak ankles, which plagued him last season, were the reason, Iselhardt said. With the big fullback out, Edwardsville could not score although the Bengals moved the ball well and Maring proved a capable replacement.

Sophomore Fullback Terry Andrews gave the Trojans one last scoring opportunity when he banged up the middle to the Edwardsville five midway through the final period. Madison

State Savings Eliminates Hearts From I-C Playoffs; McAteer Wins

State Savings and Loan of East St. Louis knocked Granite City Sacred Hearts out of the Red division playoffs in the Southwestern Illinois Inter-City Baseball League yesterday afternoon at Wilson Park, 6-0.

The league's second East St. Louis entry, McAteer Glass, struck early to defeat White City 11-1 in a Blue division playoff encounter at Jones Park in East St. Louis.

The defeats automatically eliminated the Hearts and White City. State Savings earned the right to meet Red champion, McManis, in the fifth round, while McAteer will be at Wilson Park to oppose Mercer Funeral Home of Granite City, the Blue division season title.

The winners of next Sunday's contests will meet the following weekend in the first game of a best two-out-of-three series for the Inter-City playoff with ownership and the President Vernon Lucas cup. The Glassmen are defending champions.

Big Fourth Inning
All the scoring at Wilson Park was confined to one inning. State Savings made two singles, a balk and five walks by loser Ed Bauer and Cliff Eckles shut out the Hearts on six hits.

Gosselt, who pitched the only no-hitter of the regular season, the first time he put on a Hearts uniform, has had trouble with his control ever since, and it proved the Hearts' undoing yesterday.

He issued three straight passes to open the fourth, and nearly got out of trouble by whiffing the next two State Savings batters. A fourth walk forced in one run, however, and Larry McCaskey followed with a two-run single.

Ralph Turley scored and the other runners moved up on the balk. Catcher Don Bruce followed with a single to drive in runs five and six. Gosselt was relieved by Larry Burns, who got out of the inning by retiring a pinch hitter, and he blanked Howard Darr's crew the rest of the way.

Bauer hurled eight scoreless innings, and the string was continued in the ninth by Eckles. The six Hearts hits were split among six batters. Jim O'Master worked the entire game behind the plate.

Two Double Plays
Lynman Tucker's squad threatened in both the first and fifth innings, but State Savings turned over double plays in both frames. McAteer had three of State Savings' six safeties.

The Glassmen bombed White City starter and loser Ted Tomko for nine hits and eight runs in the first inning at Jones Park, and the game was never in doubt afterwards.

Clyde Blankenship hurled a five-hitter for McAteer and lost his shutout when White City scored its only run in the top of the fourth. Don Kratochvil, who relieved Tomko, gave up only one hit in the seven innings he worked, but McAteer scored two unearned runs in the fifth and another tainted marker in the seventh. White City committed five miscues.

Don Womack caught for McAteer Glass, and Roger Kratochvil for White City.

Franko Wins 30-Lap Feature Race

Joe Franko of Mitchell picked up most of the prizes offered by the Chain of Rocks Micro-Midget Racing Association at the organization's regular season wrap-up races last night at the micro track near the Chain of Rocks canal bridge.

Franko won the opening trophy dash, returned to grab first in the second heat race and topped a successful evening by taking the checkered flag in the 30-lap feature race.

Ron Hutchings of Granite City was first in the opening heat race, and Clyde Stewart, a consistent winner here this season, won the third heat race.

The racing association will close the 1960 season next Sunday night by staging a 50-lap season championship race at the track. Heat races and three events for quarter-midget cars from St. Louis also are on the program.

While in Honolulu, he participated in six games with the American squad against a team of Hawaiian all-stars. Reilly is a junior at Missouri and a member of the school's varsity baseball squad.

14 Teams Sign Up For Park's Touch Football Program

Fourteen teams, seven in each division, were organized Saturday morning in the Granite City park district's fall touch football league for boys.

Recreation Director Harold Brown said the league will begin its regular season play next Saturday morning on a specially marked field near the intersection of Peeling road and 11th street. The league is divided into teams for boys 9-10 years of age and 11-12.

Brown said one more team in each age division can be accepted, and there is also a need for adults who are interested in coaching or managing some of the teams already entered. A complete league schedule will be made public Thursday.

7 Lettermen Bolster GCHS Cross-Country Hopes For '60

Seven returning lettermen, six of whom are seniors, form the nucleus of a 30-man cross-country squad currently working out under the direction of Coach Dick Harmon at Granite City high school.

"We're going to have a fair team," Harmon said, "but our problem each year is getting into shape." Harmon, in his seventh year as mentor of the Warriors distance runners, went on to explain that the flat terrain of Wilson Park, where his runners do most of their pre-season jogging, is not conducive to stamina.

Most of our big meets will be run on hilly ground, but we just don't have a training area like that available. We've been running up and down bleachers to simulate hilly country, but it's a poor substitute," he remarked.

Edwardsville Strong
Harmon looks to Edwardsville as the real power in local cross-country circles again this year. "Alton and Belleville will also be tough," he predicted. The Warriors will open the season in Alton on Tuesday, Sept. 27, and then meet Edwardsville there in a dual meet three days later.

Anchoring the Granite City squad are Senior Lettermen Gaynell Roblin, Gaynell Roblin, Team Captain Dave Moss, James Richee, Mike Vassileff and Keith Vetter, plus a junior letterwinner, Bob Cuvier.

"The squad should reach its peak around the middle of October," Harmon forecast, "or about the time we're entered in the big Beaumont Invitational meet."

"Right now, you might say we're weak from loss of blood," Harmon added with tongue in cheek. "Those mosquitoes in the park are really bad."

"The Warrior cross-country schedule is:

Sept. 27 at Alton — 4 p. m.
Sept. 30 at Edwardsville — 4 p. m.
Oct. 4 — East St. Louis home, 4 p. m.
Oct. 7 — Belleville Invitational — 4 p. m.
Oct. 11 — Edwardsville home, 4 p. m.
Oct. 14 — Beaumont Invitational (Forest Park), 4 p. m.
Oct. 18 at Trind — 4 p. m.
Oct. 22 — SWI meet at Edwardsville, 10 a. m.
Oct. 25 at Belleville — 4 p. m.
Oct. 29 — District meet (no site selected)
Nov. 8 — State meet at Champaign

Park District To Offer Varied Fall, Winter Sports, Activities Calendar

Autumn's turning leaves will prompt Granite City youngsters to turn their individual and collective attentions and interests to a new arena of the sports panel, and the city's park district will offer up a varied menu.

Harold Brown, the park district's recreational director, has charted a diversified program, with special attention directed to sub-teens and the junior teens, and hasn't forgotten the distaff side—girls' bowling.

The fall calendar of park district-sponsored events gets underway this upcoming weekend, and will swell to a crescendo beginning early in November.

Touch football games Saturday heralds the fall season of sports, 2500 To Participate.

Brown estimates that upwards of 2500 youngsters will take part in fall and early winter activities and events, and this doesn't count those who will make the bus trek to Champaign on Oct. 8, where the Illinois will meet Ohio State at the annual Homecoming game.

The recreational director hasn't looked for top executives finalized all phases of the Granite City program, but he said today he felt assured the year will be varied and interesting enough to meet fall-engendered energies.

Devils Win 2nd Straight; Minutemen Fall 4-3

Larry Gray's clutch single to left field in the ninth inning drove in pinch runner Harold Koelliker from third with the deciding run as Venice high school won its second straight MBC conference baseball game in Lee Park Friday afternoon, defeating Bunker Hill 4-3.

Koelliker was a pinch runner for Bill Austin, who had been hit by a pitched ball earlier in the frame and moved around to third on a fielder's choice.

John Corrie again went the distance on the mound for Venice, picking up his second victory. He struck out seven and had seven assists. One of Kevin Downing fanned 15, but issued seven free passes and hit two batters. Both teams collected five hits.

For the Red Devils, Jack Fielder and Corrie each collected a pair of safeties. Venice had only two earned runs, and the Minutemen outscored them 4-3.

Bunker Hill scored a single run in the fourth and tied the score with two more in the sixth. The Red Devils will play Aviston tomorrow in another conference game.

Optimists Hear GCHS Football Predictions

A prediction for a "fair" football season for Granite City high school gridlers was made Thursday afternoon by Athletic Director Richard Yates and Coach Andrew Sullivan, who were guest speakers at the luncheon meeting of the Granite City Optimist Club. Forty members were gathered at the Elks Club for the meeting.

Yates and Sullivan said this year's light and inexperienced team has a "rugged" schedule, and that conference rumors list the Warriors "as the team to beat." "It looks like all eight teams are going to try," Sullivan said.

Tickets for the Optimist Clubs annual Christmas tree sale were distributed by Gene Sternberg to the club members.

Granite Cityans Honor 'Salty' Parker

Giant Coach Is Heaped With Gifts, Praise At Banquet, Ball Park Fete

Francis "Salty" Parker, a modest man by nature, took plaudits and praise on the back of his neck by former coaches, friends, supporters and major league ballplayers Saturday night, and then told a capacity crowd gathered to honor him at the GCHS cafeteria that he "owed it all" to the very ballplayers he helped develop.

"I do like to feel that someone along the line I helped each of these boys," Parker said, pointing out Ernie Broglio and Bill White of the St. Louis Cardinals and Joe Amalfitano, Willie McEvey and Jim Davenport of the Giants, all of whom attended the testimonial dinner.

"I didn't make them what they are," he said.

Giant Manager Tom Sheehan, one of the long list of baseball notables who aided in honoring Parker here and at Busch Stadium yesterday afternoon, also spoke at the dinner.

Who received a standing ovation from the nearly 400 friends and baseball acquaintances present when he arose to reply, credited Sheehan for his present position as a third base coach with the San Francisco club.

"I owe my present job to Mr. Sheehan," Parker stated, and related how through Sheehan's efforts in late 1958 he moved up from the manager ship of a minor league club to the time.

Sheehan, connected with professional baseball since the 1920s, stuck one barb in the Parker hilt, but it was a good-natured one, and the comments offered by several speakers at the banquet.

While managing in the minors, Sheehan related, the occasion arose when Parker pinch-hit for the opposition, and promptly doubled off the fence. "I didn't even get off the bench," Sheehan said. "To get my pitcher out, just waved him off and told him later that anytime Parker hit him he was done, and just to walk off the field if it ever happened again."

Giant Radio Announcer Russ Hodges served as master-of-ceremonies and other notables at the head table were Giant coaches Bill Parrell and Walter Westrum; two of Parker's high school day coaches, Byron Bozarth and Edw. Smith; and "Miss Granite City," Miss Suzanne Lexow. Mayor Leonard Davis got the whole affair rolling about a half hour after the invocation by Rev. Michael Costello, pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

Family Attends
Also present in the audience were Parker's mother, wife and two daughters.

Hodges, who neatly tied the program together, had words of advice for several of the speakers who attended, noting that the difference in the spelling of "chump" and "chump" is a small one. "If you use your head, and Salty has done, then you won't have to worry about becoming the chump, no matter if you stick to baseball or enter some other field," the announcer said.

Smith, baseball coach at GCHS when Parker was a student, called "Salty" Parker a decent, and that of the whole Parker family, too. Too many people are not willing to pay the price for success," Parker continued, "but Salty has done it and still retained that quality."

Both Smith and Bozarth, once football and basketball coach here, reminisced on Parker's high school days. "Salty was captain of every team he played on his senior year," Bozarth recalled, "and you knew right then that this boy was destined to go somewhere."

"All of You Helped"
Parker's reply when he got up to speak was simple, straightforward and short. "This has to be a set-up affair," he said. "All of you, you coaches and you ballplayers and you fans, all of you helped me along at one time or another. All I can say is thanks, thank for that and thank you for what you have done tonight."

On Sunday, just prior to the Giant Cardinal game in St. Louis, Joe Garagiola, himself a former Cardinal and now sports announcer and personality, presided during brief ceremonies at home plate at which Parker was loaded down with gifts from individuals and businesses in Granite City.

List of Gifts
Wheeled out on a large cart were a portable TV set and stand from the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank; a stereo hi-fi from the First Granite City National Bank; a dozen golf balls from an East St. Louis firm, which also claims Parker as a native son; a suit from Fleishman's, dress shirts from Tratter's, shoes from Niebuhr's, a transistor radio from Chavar and Dawes; a movie projector from Mercer Funeral Home; luggage presented by Mayor Davis; a movie camera and screen from members of the "Salty Parker Day" committee; $750 in U. S. savings bonds from those who attended the banquet; a fountain pen desk set from the members of the local "Salty Parker" boys' baseball league; and a check for $100.

Flowers were presented to Parker's mother and wife, sitting in a box near home plate, by Tommy Loman and Gus Ligmod Jr., two of the ballplayers from the league which bears Parker's name, and more flowers went to Miss Lexow, also present on the field, and were presented by Ralph Burnett, another Salty Parker leaguer.

The pen set was presented to Parker by two more ballplayers, Dave Morgan Jr. and Steve Gantz. And that was not all. The Giant ballclub also chipped in for a portable TV set.

"With two teenage daughters I can put them both to use," Parker said. Parker indeed had his "day" before the game, but one of the players he managed in the minor leagues, Broglio, pitched a four-hitter later in the afternoon as the Cards topped the Giants, 4-3.

Questioned later, he told the Press-Record the only protection in the crash was the fabric top, which was up at the time.

ARE PRESCRIPTION PRICES HIGH?

With so many publicity seekers saying so, we don't blame you for wondering if this is true.

HOW DO WE PRICE PRESCRIPTIONS?

To the cost of ingredients, we add a charge for overhead, compounding time and a fair profit. Because we also supply you with other medicines and many health aids, only part of the overhead expense of conducting a pharmacy is charged to the prescription department.

DR. PAUL OLSEN — Eminent Satisfaction, reported on April 11, 1960 that after charging only the proportionate overhead expense of the prescription department, only about 8c of each prescription dollar's selling price remained as net profit, before taxes in the average pharmacy.

IS THAT TOO MUCH?

About 80c net for us on a $10, or 16c net on a $2 prescription, from which we pay our taxes and the rest. We're not complaining. We do enough total volume to satisfy us. But, don't you think pharmacists deserve much credit for keeping prices so low? You can help us to always keep them that low, if you also get your other medicines and health-aids from us.

SIU Courses Selected To Keep Pace With Events

Fall quarter offerings in anthropology, history, government, sociology and geography at Southern Illinois University's Southwestern Illinois Campus were selected with an eye to current domestic and international crises — the economic, social and political problems of 1960 — Dr. Herbert Kosenstein, social studies division head, announced today.

The November election, race problems, and our relations with Russia will be considered by specific courses, in addition to the usual course offerings.

"The acquisition of eight new staff members in the Social Studies Division has enabled to extend the range of our courses considerably," he said. "Students in the area will find wider choices of material for completing their upper division studies, or for following their particular interests." He pointed out that courses on international relations, the Civil War, the American Indians, and the geography of South America will be given in the evening.

'Gold-Plated Dog House' Not Shelter Advocates Ambition

While the city council's Sanitation committee has under study and investigation a site for a new, municipal animal shelter, the list of petitioners demanding such improved facilities is growing.

Mrs. R. E. Chapman, 2459 Delmar avenue, said today she has upwards of 1000 signatures to petitions calling on the council promptly to act. A new location must be obtained for the shelter, since the present antiquated, unhealthful animal pound must be razed to make room for a high-way project.

Mrs. Chapman is chairman of the Animal Shelter committee under a mayoral appointment. She has been active and vocal in the campaign to secure a shelter, for which her committee presently has a $6000 appropriation.

"We want no gold-plated dog house," Mrs. Chapman asserted today, as she spoke out to enumerate the inadequacies of the city pound and the facilities proposed for the new animal shelter.

Need Basic Facilities
"What we must have are such elementary facilities as water, sewers and heat," she continued.

"We hope, eventually to obtain the part-time services of a veterinarian, give anti-rabies immunization to animals brought to the shelter and set up a dog licensing system in the city under which animals are numbered and recorded.

"We simply want a decent, humane place for strays, homeless and lost animals, and anticipate that gifts, donations and fees will augment our present appropriation of $6000."

Mrs. Chapman explained the committee originally had been given a $25,000 grant. This was sharply pared by the council to $6000.

She said the pound, at the city dump, lacks water, sewage disposal facilities and even heat for the animals.

"Dogs are flea-ridden in this rat-infested setting," she said, "and it is no place for humane treatment of pets."

Mrs. Chapman said many pet owners and animal lovers were prompt action in securing an animal shelter.

The council's Sanitation committee may consider the opening of a site within the municipal limits for the new building.

HOLDING BANNERS denoting the "All-American" cities to which they are assigned are Marine Corps recruiters (left to right) Sgt. William Baptist of Alton, Sgt. Harold Taylor of Granite City and Sgt. William Abbott of East St. Louis. A campaign for 50 enlistees in an "All-American" unit is being undertaken by the three.

All-American' Recruit Marine Corps Program
U. S. Marine Corps recruiting offices in Granite City, Alton and East St. Louis are undertaking "Operation All-American" in an attempt to enlist 50 young men into the corps from these three cities by Nov. 30, local recruiter Sgt. Harold Taylor said today.

The enlistment promotion got its name from the fact that all three cities were "All-American" cities either this year or last. Sgt. Taylor said four Granite City high school graduates have already responded to the campaign.

The 50 recruits, if the goal is reached, will depart for the San Diego, Calif., Marine Corps recruit depot on Nov. 30, train together for 12 weeks, then receive four weeks of advance combat training at Camp Pendleton, Calif., before returning home together on 20-day leaves.

High school graduates may enlist for three years, non-graduates for four. The age limits are from 17 through 27, Sgt. Taylor said. The enlistments will become effective the day the youths sign final papers at the recruiting offices.

Sgt. William Baptist is in charge of the Alton area recruiting center; Sgt. William Abbott is the East St. Louis Marine Corps recruiter.

3 Bank Officers, Wives Attending Convention
Presidents of three local banks and their wives left over the weekend to attend the 86th annual convention of the American Bankers' Association, which opened yesterday in New York City and will continue through Wednesday.

There was damage to the left side of the car of Ed Fitzpatrick, 2941 Wayne avenue, and the right side of the auto of Tony J. Valencia, 25, of 1725 Spruce street. The vehicle that hit the Fitzpatrick car was described as a blue and white station wagon driven by a young woman accompanied by three children.

Glenview-East Granite Farm Column

By TRUMAN W. MAY

Madison County Farm Adviser

Hessian fly populations in wheat stubble are generally low in this area to be a threat to early-seeded susceptible varieties this fall. The flies will emerge in the fall from the "seed" stage in the stubble to lay their eggs on volunteer and early-seeded wheat. However, farm practices and weather conditions will greatly influence the extent of insect survival and subsequent damage.

On the basis of surveys by the college of agriculture, University of Illinois and the State Natural History Survey, damage from Hessian fly will be somewhat greater than last fall and the winter carry-over of fly in early-seeded wheat could be great enough to cause serious losses in 1961.

Whether fly populations continue to increase or not, a sharp drop will depend largely on how much volunteer wheat is allowed to grow this fall and on how much is seeded earlier than the recommended dates.

The average dates of seeding wheat in Madison county for highest yield are October 7 to 10. This is later than the Hessian fly infestation and early enough to permit good growth before cold weather. Conditions at that time will, of course, determine how closely the wheat will follow the recommended dates.

All volunteer wheat should be destroyed by mid-September. It can benefit the Hessian fly as much as early-seeded wheat.

Three wheat varieties—Dual, Ponca and Monon—are resistant to Hessian fly. Either certified or pure seed (not contaminated with other varieties) has proved to be resistant. Any of these three varieties may be seeded early without damage by Hessian fly or buildup of populations.

A systemic insecticide called Thimet, designed for use with early-seeded susceptible varieties does not yet have label approval for commercial application. If approval is granted before seeding time, it will be recommended for specific situations. Thimet will control Hessian fly in the fall and thus reduce carry-over, but it will not control the spring brood of Hessian fly.

Members of the Madison County Agricultural Extension Council have organized and made plans for 1960-61 at a meeting at the Farm Bureau building in Edwardsville.

Officers elected were Wm. H. Rohrkaste, Edwardsville, chairman; Harvey Bender, Edwardsville, vice-chairman; and Milton Fitz, Highland, secretary.

Other members of the council are Harold Baskin; Harold Gindler, Collinsville; Harold Kierke, Edwardsville; Charles E. Krejci, Edwardsville; Herbert F. Kuehe, Dorsey; Charles C. Leach, Edwardsville; Glenn Luehmman, Granite City; Norman Meyer, Highland; George A. Rindel, Edwardsville; Walter Steiner, Pocahtons.

The chief function of the council is to help formulate and direct the county agricultural extension program, assisting the farm advisers in designing programs and carrying on activities to achieve better farming in the county.

Good pasture and high-quality hay and silage are the basis of an efficient dairy feeding program. When such roughages are fed in liberal quantities, a grain ration made up primarily of farm grains are satisfactory. Using this combination and feeding the grain mixture according to the milk yield of each cow will help to keep production high and feed costs low, provide a satisfactory profit.

Reports by dairy herd improvement association supervisors and members show how members have used high-quality roughage to keep feed bills low and at the same time increase production. They also show how DHIA records have been used to make needed adjustments in the feeding program to increase returns.

In the annual summary of Illinois DHIA activities just published by the dairy science department of the University of Illinois, is the following report by Kenneth Weber, supervisor for the Madison county No. 1 association:

"One of my members developed a satisfactory system of rotational grazing, this past season. Using a mixture of alfalfa, ladino clover, and timothy, he placed 28 Guernsey cows on a different patch so "he" each patch was pastured only "a" day a week.

In August, when everyone else was feeding hay to supplement drying pastures, this dairyman still had sufficient pasture to carry his 28 cows. The alfalfa and ladino were sown green, and a few individual cows showed an increase over their July record. Not only did this system provide cheap, abundant pasture—28 cows on 18 acres—but it saved feeding hay 50 mill cows was a contributing factor in helping this herd obtain the

Busy Schedule For Candidate In Campaigning Here

With many miles to travel and many people to see, the Democratic presidential candidate will be following an "extremely tight" schedule when he appears in Quad-Cities Monday, Oct. 3.

County Democratic Chairman Walter Simmons has revealed that Senator John F. Kennedy has agreed to two addresses here that day, at the Bellemeade Village shopping center parking lot and the front lawn of the American Legion Post 807 Home in Venice. Party officials currently are arranging details of the local phase of his tour.

In St. Louis to address a large rally on Sunday evening, Oct. 2, the Massachusetts Democrat will return to speak at 9 a.m. the following day, Simmons related. Leaving Alton about 9:15 or 9:20 a.m., he will proceed by auto to the shopping center parking lot, located in the 3200 block of North Main.

Arriving here between 9:50 and 10 a.m., the candidate will speak from his auto, using a microphone connected to a sound truck accompanying the motorcade caravan.

The campaign talks will be limited to 15 or 20 minutes, and the speaker will remain in his car wherever possible, to save time.

It is possible to follow the time schedule exactly, Sen. Kennedy will leave the Bellemeade area at 10:15 and ride down Madison avenue through Granite City and Madison, passing over the Broadway viaduct to reach the front lawn of Legion Post 307 at 740 Broadway, Venice.

Going to a specially-built platform on the Legion grounds, the candidate will deliver another talk at 10:30 a.m., lasting 15 to 20 minutes. Both Quad-City addresses are expected to be expeditious.

Leaving Venice immediately after the talk, Sen. Kennedy will give addresses at the National City stockyards, at the corner of Collinsville and Missouri avenues in East St. Louis and at the Belleville city square. A brief lunch at a Belleville restaurant also will be worked into the schedule before he boards a chartered plane at the Scott Air Force Base field at 1 p.m.

Several campaign talks in southern Illinois, including one at Marion, are planned during the afternoon, with Sen. Kennedy then flying to Springfield, Ill., to speak at the Armory there the next night.

Introduced By Kerner

Otto Kerner, Democratic candidate for governor of Illinois, will introduce the senator at all three stops in Madison county, Simmons reported.

Most state and county candidates are planning to be present, and it is hoped to divide some of them between the three locations. In this way they can address the crowds that gather in advance, keeping the groups interested in the unit. The first speaker arrives, the chairman explained.

The carrying capacity of the pasture and the milk production record of the dairy herd prove the value of good soil treatment and management.

A new grass waterway built by John Sullivan of Pt. Russell township in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service is a fine example of farm practices used by Madison county farmers and landowners to control soil erosion.

Opportunity For Local District To Pioneer In Educational Field

Many local residents consider themselves as not too dissimilar to the hardy pioneers who carved out a new type of nation on this continent. Whether these residents should or would become pioneers in adopting a comparatively new educational system is a question currently confronting the Granite City school board.

Commendable standards of objectivity have been set for a detailed study to be conducted by school administrators this fall. In the two public studies that led to successful construction bond issue elections in 1952 and 1957, only scant attention was given to the idea of year-round utilization of school buildings. Now there will be a full evaluation of cost factors and relative merits of a year-round program, shift plan and construction of new facilities; it is felt that in one of these three directions lies the solution to meeting future enrollment needs.

Year-round use of school buildings is advocated by many leading educators as a more efficient way to operate school systems. The plan would result in students completing three out of four quarters each year, with one-fourth of the students taking their three month vacation in the summer, a fourth in the fall, another fourth in the winter and the final group in the spring. Students desiring to enrich their training by vacationing less often probably also could be accommodated.

Obvious advantage of the program is that local taxpayers' large investment in buildings and equipment would be spread throughout the year—a much sounder procedure than from an economic standpoint. A business could not afford idle buildings. Schools now serving over 11,000 could handle 15,000 under this plan. It might be well to note in advance of the study that many of the reasons cited in opposing the plan actually would not be problems. It would not be difficult to schedule simultaneous vacations for all of the children in the same family. Consideration also could be given to each family's view on the timing of vacation, and it seems likely that many would be pleased by the opportunity to take their vacations in other seasons than the present school term permits. Many fathers, in fact, are unable to take summer vacations and thus are denied trips with their youngsters.

Another bugaboo seems sure to arise. This is the question of students on vacation from school who find it too cold to play outdoors. Will they be underfoot all day long for the others try to visit to complete household chores? One answer might be that the park recreation program, already functioning on a year-round basis, could be revamped to help meet the new conditions.

Older students might have a better chance of obtaining vacation jobs. Teaching jobs would be better, with the extra months' work and pay assured, and those wishing to continue taking three months off for study or travel undoubtedly could still do so. With an automatic gain of close to 33% in the teaching staff, the teacher shortage would be eased, if not eliminated entirely.

A final point often overlooked is certainly quite pertinent. The proposal means the equivalent of over six brand new school buildings—all ready for immediate use and costing almost nothing. Literally millions of dollars could be saved, and the prospect of higher standards of interest could be ended for many years. Any plan offering this much is worthy of serious thought by all, whether or not they are moved by a pioneering spirit.

First Funds Formally Link State To Developing Park At Horseshoe Lake

News of a $100,000 allocation for land acquisition and engineering work, significant because it marks the first release of state funds toward establishment of a mammoth state park at Horseshoe Lake.

In committing the state to eventual completion of the project, Gov. Stratton recognizes the need for improved recreational facilities in this Illinois Metropolitan area as well as the validity of findings announced in 1957 by the Horseshoe Lake Area Study Commission. The commission, composed of Henry D. Karandjoff, chairman, and Harry Briggs, Wilbert Engleke, Herbert Esterline, Francis Gauen, G. W. Hoelcher, B. E. Hohl, Walter S. Love, Truman May, S. E. Pershall, Jr., Carl A. Ranft and Edwin Reiske, together with State Senators James O. Monroe and Homer Butler and Representatives Ralph T. Smith, G. R. Beckmeyer, Alan J. Dixon, Frank Holten, Thomas J. Thornton and W. O. Verheide, has done a fine job.

While the $100,000 is only a fraction of the more than $3,000,000 estimated total cost, it represents a start and puts the state on record as an official participant in creating the new park. Another $300,000 has been appropriated, and more funds are expected to be forthcoming from future sessions of the Illinois general assembly.

When the completion day arrives, the site will include several thousand acres of park land, a variety of recreational facilities and a large lake area dredged to a sufficient depth for boating, swimming and other water sports. That will be a great day for the Quad-Cities.

Chest X-Ray Survey Again Finds Many Conditions Needing Treatment

Value of the Madison County Tuberculosis Association's annual free chest x-ray survey again emphasized by the group's 1960 survey report. Out of 20,390 persons x-rayed, 63 cases of tuberculosis were discovered.

In addition, 391 people found to have other chest conditions referred to their family physicians. Included were benign and malignant tumors, heart defects, silicosis, pneumonia, emphysema and bronchitis.

While some of the conditions found were more serious than others, all needed to be detected as promptly as possible. The survey is a distinct public service to the residents of Madison county.

County Prepares For Transition To Salariated Justices Of Peace

Marked improvement in the Illinois court system, initiated by new state laws adopted last year, moved a step closer last week with actions by the Madison county board of supervisors to create five justice of the peace districts, including one for Venice, Granite City and Nameoki townships and Chouteau township Precinct One.

With salaries replacing the present outmoded fee system, new justices of the peace will be elected next spring, one serving each district. Together with salaried city magistrates, they will have an opportunity to set new standards of impartiality and service in the administration of justice.

RECENT ARRIVAL in this country from Turkey, Mrs. Marika K. Antonoff (seated), mother of Rev. Kiril Antonoff of 3128 Carlson avenue, is quite a bit more interested in American television than is her small granddaughter, Maria, age four. Standing are Rev. and Mrs. Antonoff, with whom she will make her home. Rev. Antonoff recently returned from Turkey, where his efforts to bring his mother out of the country were delayed by what he called "a bloodless revolution."

Turkish Citizen Comes To GC—"We Have Everything"

"One of the best allies we've got" was how Rev. Kiril Antonoff, pastor of the Holy Trinity Bulgarian Orthodox Church, Madison, concisely described Turkey after spending four months there recently.

The magic word in Turkey is America, he said, and to be in American represents one of the highest possible achievements to a Turk.

His real mission, far from scanning the political scene, was simply to bring his mother, a Turkish citizen, to Granite City. Although normally the routine would take some 15 days or so, Rev. Antonoff said, complications arose from the start and it was three months before he knew for certain that she could come.

As soon as the airplane touched down in Istanbul, the Turkish capital, marshal law was declared, he said. Rev. Antonoff, his wife, Mrs. Malinka Antonoff, and their small daughter, Maria, were taken to his mother's home and told to stay there until further notice.

Bloodless Revolution

That was April 28 this year, the beginning of what he described as probably the "most bloodless" revolution in the world's history.

Dissatisfied with their government, the Turkish army, marines and air force suddenly rebelled, expelling the leaders. But there were no purges, no machine guns firing in the streets.

"They told the people by radio not to leave their homes. And little by little," he said, "they lifted the restrictions. But now I think the people are satisfied, and they're getting ready to hold elections."

The revolution (the Turkish word for it is "intilal") had no visible overtones of communism, Rev. Antonoff said. In fact, he thought it highly unlikely the system would gain a foothold in Turkey because of the tremendous religious differences, plus public opinion weighted against Russia.

As for the present economic and military rivalry between the United States and Russia, Rev. Antonoff said the Turkish people feel that Russia is largely bluffing, that the U. S. still leads in important things.

Istanbul, one of the most famous of international cities, also is one of the most modern, he said. His chief complaint?

Chief Complaint

"Too many autos. Driving is a big problem there, the same as here."

He said most of the cars, some 75% of them, are American makes.

How does his mother, Mrs. Marika Antonoff, 70, like America?

Well, television baffles her as much as anything, Mr. Antonoff said. She had never seen it before, and still hasn't gotten over her initial astonishment at its large set. She does not speak English.

For the millions of shiny tin-plated cars, jars and other containers that line shelves of supermarkets, Rev. Antonoff said she shares the critical opinion of many older people here. But she discovered canned soups last week, he said, and was enthused that she thinks she may be on the way to complete acceptance.

"She thinks we have everything in Granite City," he said, "and she hasn't been to St. Louis yet."

The Turkish climate was delightful, he said, mild and springlike. The highest temperature was 50 degrees, and "you never sweat."

Rev. Antonoff, who was himself born and reared in Istanbul, coming to America and Granite City in 1947, said he had no trouble communicating or traveling in Turkey after the revolution ended.

English Speakers Common

Even if he hadn't been proficient in speaking Turkish and Bulgarian, more than half the population of Istanbul spoke fluent English, he said. The language is taught in many schools there, and is a requirement in some.

Do the Turks believe the United States is right in wanting to go to the moon? Yes and no, the clergyman reported.

The religious ones, with their ingrained belief that it is wrong to disturb what they consider "God's things" apart from earth are against it. Of these who aren't opposed to it, most cannot understand how it will ever be possible, he said.

Though he doesn't plan to return to his birthplace "at least for some time," Rev. Antonoff said the trip apart from its mission to bring his mother back, taught a familiar but too easily forgotten lesson.

"A lot of people who don't go out and see a different part of the world take everything for granted. But you have to go out to see how people elsewhere suffer to realize your own benefits," he said, "to really know there's no place like home."

Choose Name For Son

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Patterson, 652 Margaret avenue, Mitchell, who became parents of a son Sept. 2 at St. Elizabeth Hospital, have named him David Wayne. He weighed eight pounds, four ounces. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. David Yount of Kokomo, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Patterson of Rector, Ark.

State Sanitary Engineer To Talk On Pollution Here

The citizens committee, headed by G. W. Holscher, obtained for the city a $120,000 federal grant which is being used to make this survey. The committee has been requested by the city to probe the pollution problem here, and Wednesday night's meeting is for the purpose of learning first-hand from Klassen what is required of the city, as well as determining how to work most effectively with the manufacturers' association committee that is currently studying the industrial pollution situation.

August Canal Traffic Was Heaviest Of Year

Freight tonnage and traffic through the Chain of Rocks canal locks during August was the heaviest of the year, the District office of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers in St. Louis reported today.

The 2,350,021 tons of commercial and government freight which passed through locks No. 22 the last month also boosted the tonnage total for the year to 14,947,210 well ahead of the 14,745,088 tons for the first eight months of 1959.

For the second consecutive month this year, downstream traffic rose in proportion with that traveling upstream. This was due again to the heavy shipment of harvested grains, where a 634,026 ton total in August was the highest of the year.

The 845 lockages during August was well above the same figure for that month last year when the total was 699. Total months of 1960 reached 4963, while for the same period last year there were 4559. Total vessel figures were also higher, with 24,425 this year compared to 22,093 during January-August of 1959.

The commercial tonnage breakdown for August showed:

Petroleum products—upstream 437,250, downstream 182,660; grain — up 31,550, down 645,026; coal—up 540,700, down none; cement, sand and gravel — up 8460, down 13,500; sulphur — up 31,820, down none; miscellaneous commodities — up 210,885, down 61,800; chemicals — up 56,280, down 3100; and steel — up 21,950, down 83,550.

Total upstream commercial traffic in tons was 1,558,815, that downstream 987,336. Another 3870 tons in government traffic accounted for the 2,350,021 total. Last month's total was 2,110,974.

Vessels using the locking facilities included 718 towboats, 2631 barges, 107 contractors' boats and barges, 223 private recreational boats, 10 U. S. towboats, 63 government barges and two small craft, plus seven U. S. cruisers and patrol boats.

Bi-State Pilot Committee Member

The name of Lloyd McBride, subdistrict director of the Steelworkers Union, was inadvertently omitted from a news article in Thursday's Press-Record listing members of the Metropolitan Bi-State Pilot Committee from the Quad-Cities.

There are 22 on the Pilot Committee, 11 from Illinois and 11 from Missouri. The presidents of Southern Illinois University, Washington University and St. Louis University appointed the committee.
